MUTUELLE GENERALE DE LA POLICE SELECTS CSC'S GRAPHTALK A.I.A TO IMPROVE ITS SERVICES

Charenton, 17 March 2006 – Computer Sciences Corporation (NYSE: CSC), a leading global information technology (IT) services firm, announced today that health and protection insurance provider for the French police force, Mutuelle Générale de la Police (MGP), has licensed CSC's GraphTalk A.I.A to improve both management performance and customer services. The agreement marks GraphTalk A.I.A's entry into the French state employees' mutual market.

GraphTalk A.I.A administers a wide range of life, health and protection products, as well as pensions and general insurance products.

MGP selected GraphTalk A.I.A for its capability to address the needs of the whole community of the mutual company members efficiently and quickly. By using GraphTalk A.I.A, MGP will be able to develop a wide range of modular health and protection products and offer a more personalised service to its members.

The software package implementation will also allow MGP to consolidate the health and protection portfolio onto a single platform, providing streamlined and optimized business processes, as well as a single view of the customer profile.

'GraphTalk A.I.A will greatly improve administration time and will enable MGP's employees to offer a more effective service to the members,' said Jean-Marie Ventura, National President of the Mutuelle Générale de Police.

GraphTalk A.I.A application will be deployed across the mutual's network in order to provide an homogeneous and high quality level of service to the members.

'We valued highly CSC 's professionalism as a leading provider and most capable of meeting the current and futures issues of the public mutual insurance sector,' added Didier Cannarella, Directeur of MGP Santé.

'MGP's decision to select GraphTalk A.I.A underlines CSC's aptitude in delivering the quality of service demanded by a company of this calibre,' said Jean-Charles Miginiac, Managing Director of CSC's Financial Services Group in France. 'Our extensive experience serving the health and protection market enables us to deliver business results that support MGP's goals, and we look forward to a mutually beneficial relationship.'
